

Custody Suite CCTV design services

Many police services throughout England & Wales are at some stage in the process of reviewing the provision of their Custody Suite CCTV systems to reflect the requirements of the NCPE guidelines on the "Safer Detention and Handling of Persons in Police Custody". Whilst the requirements are relatively straightforward, it is often a difficult task to move away from or develop existing systems to the stage where they will at least meet the minimum standards set in the guidelines.

The safety and security of all those using custody suites is clearly of paramount importance, however the prevention and detection of crime is also identified as a key function of such systems.

Establishing the most effective systems to meet these criteria, whilst getting the best value for money, is a difficult task. Capital Eye can assist as we have been involved in the design, specifying and project management of CCTV systems installation, as independent advisors, for over 10 years. We have a strong record of working with governments, ministries, police services and many types of private companies to help them specify security systems, including CCTV. We and our professional staff are currently working with Surrey Police and the Metropolitan Police Service in the areas of Custody Suite CCTV system design and CCTV system digital storage requirements / specification, respectively.

We can assist with:

Systems component selection, including:

- Cameras
- Digital Video Recording
 - storage capacity
 - retention period
- Audio recording
- Integration with other systems
- Data Protection & Access issues
- System Management
- Contingency Planning

Other Security issues?

As well as CCTV design we design (whole) site security including perimeter protection, access control systems, physical security systems and intruder detection. Why not call us today – we can bring our experience and knowledge to bear on your security issues, to assist and enhance the work carried out with your in-house property / estates and security specialists.

Formed in the 1990's by Sir (now Lord) Peter Imbert, former Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police, Capital Eye Ltd is an independent international security company, specialising in policing and security services to governments, security forces and utilities. We provide clients with practical advice, support and training based on extensive experience and maintain the highest ethical standards and strict client confidentiality.

Lord Imbert QPM JP

For a confidential discussion please contact us today